When Edward Austin Sheldon founded the Oswego Normal School in 1861, little did he know it would grow into a comprehensive college of more than 8,200 students enrolled in a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; a School of Communication, Media and the Arts; a School of Business; a School of Education; a Division of Extended Learning; and a Division of Graduate Studies. The commitment to excellence envisioned by Sheldon continues to the present day. Many Oswego graduates, some of them recipients of previous scholarships, have gone on to distinguish themselves in their careers and communities, not only in New York state, but across the globe.

We thank the many benefactors (alumni, parents, students, friends, faculty, staff, emeriti and businesses) whose support of SUNY Oswego’s learner-centered mission has made these award opportunities available for our current students. Many scholarships are funded with support by The Fund for Oswego.
